

I listen to satellite radio as well as network radio. I am willing to pay a premium to not have to listen to news and advertising if I want that. I see this as no different from Cable TV. Traffic and weather channels are especially helpful when you need the info immediately to make routing decisions. Often there is not time to listen until the station "gets around to it". Please keep the competition open so that radio listeners have choices. Isn't that we, as a nation, are all about?
